

Teaching and communicating effectively

Dr. Margareta Johansson- Department of Physical Geography and Ecosystem Science, Lund University, Sweden

Many of us teach as part of our PhD. Few of us have actually received extensive training in teaching methods. Teaching is a difficult but also joyful and very important task. In this BS session we get together to discuss different approaches to teaching, problems and strategies we have found to efficiently communicate our research and science.